

Project Title: Cowesby Hall - Refurbishment

Client: Robert Adair

Project Details:

Cowesby Hall is a large and elegant stone mansion originally built in 1832 by George Lloyd, Esq., from the designs of Mr. Salvin, an eminent architect of that period. This has to be one of the most exciting projects undertaken by Tom Willoughby during recent years. The works initially were for the complete refurbishment of the main hall including the creation of an amazing oak framed entrance tower and we went on to include the creation of a stunning swimming pool and gym within the grounds.

Duration: 2 Years Approx.

Value: £2,300,000
